The Cumbria Growth Hub podcast features a weekly interview or discussion which of relevance to all Cumbrian businesses.

Although you can listen online, the best way to access podcasts is via your phone.

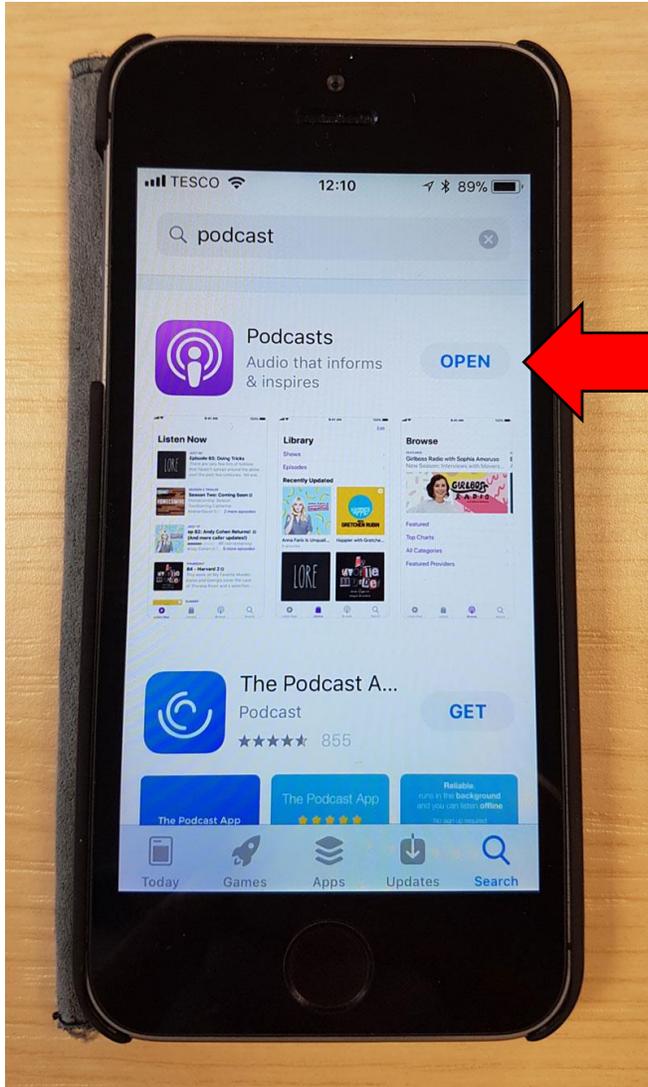

This way they're delivered directly to your device as soon as they're published and you never need miss another episode.

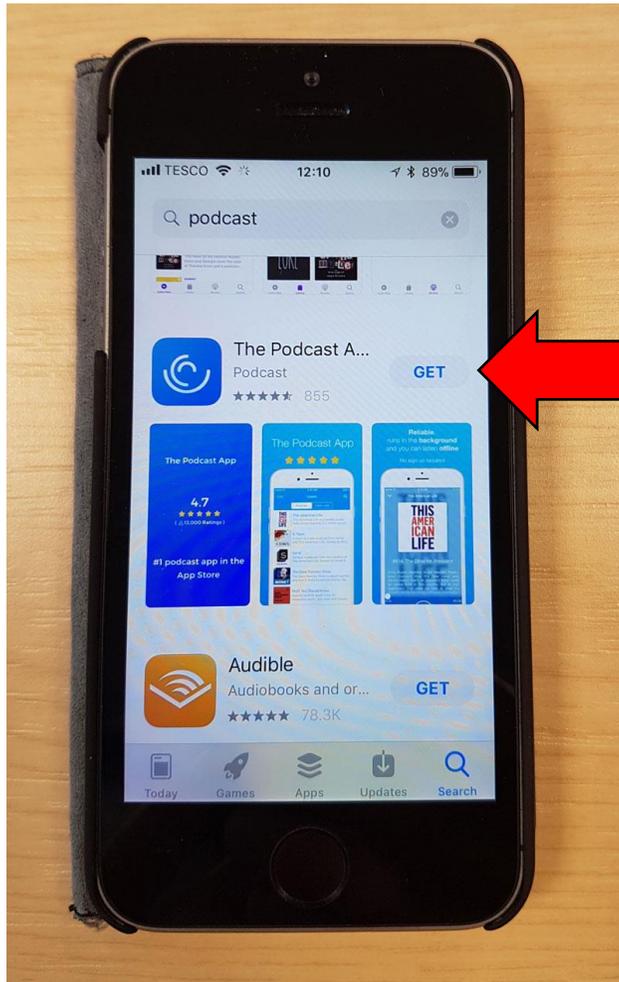

You may have the podcast app installed on your iPhone already – if so, this is what it looks like.

If the podcast app isn't installed already, you'll need to install it via the App Store. This is what you need to look for.

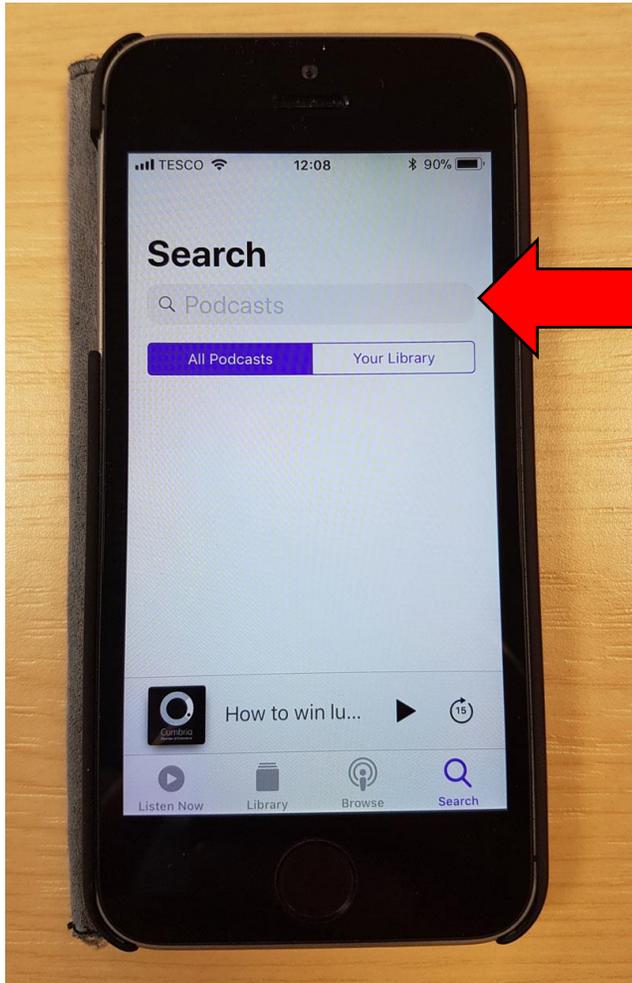

Once you have located the app in the App Store, if that button says OPEN then you have the app installed on your phone already. If the button says GET then click it and the app will install on your phone.

You can see the GET button in this image. You don't have to use the default podcast app on your iPhone, others are available, as you can see in this image. However, if you're new to podcasts, I'd recommend starting with the default option.

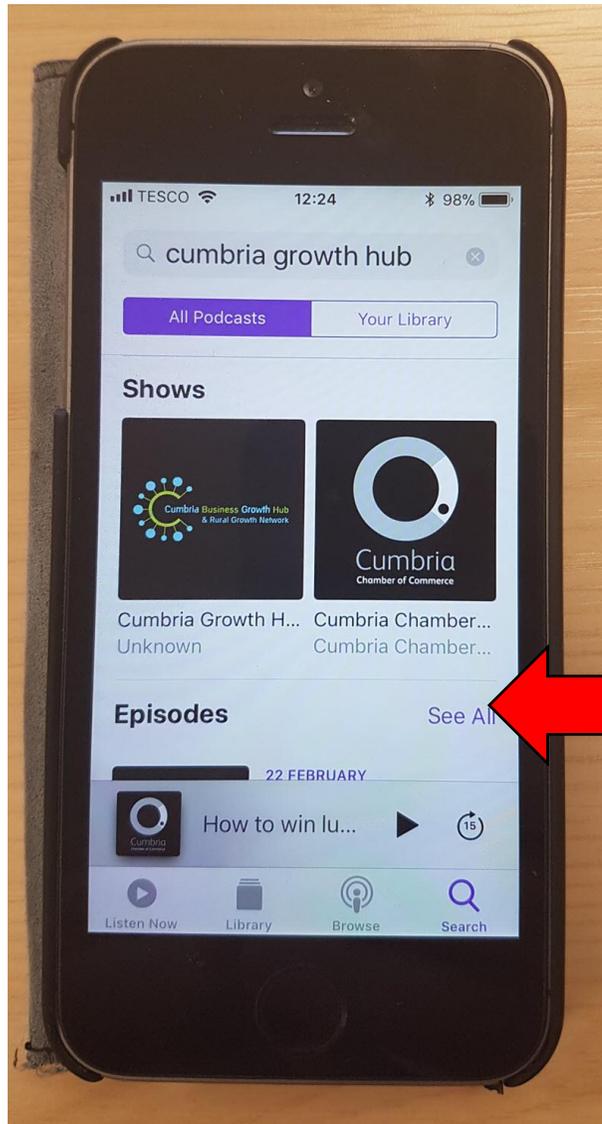

To get started, lick the Podcasts app on your iPhone.

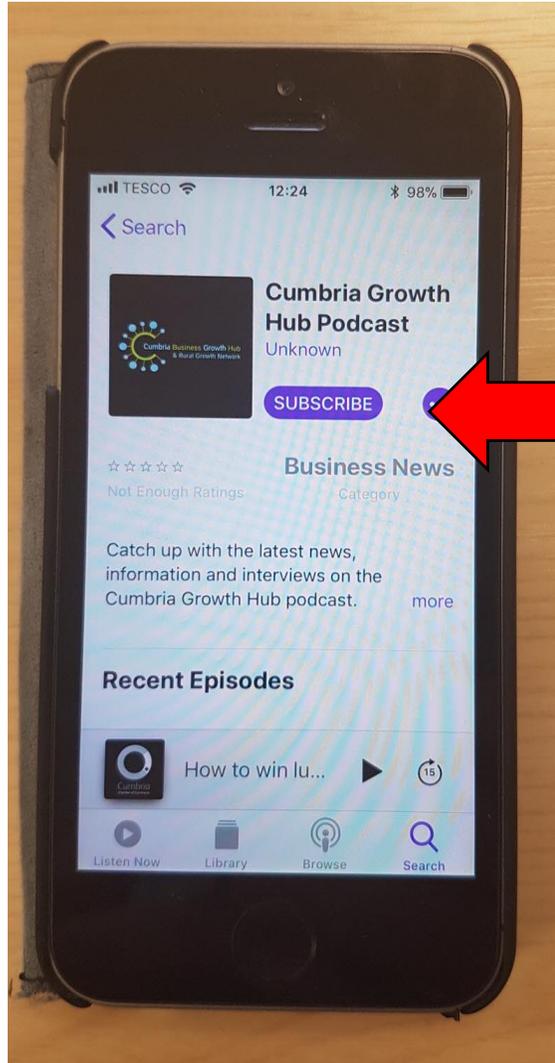

You need to use the search facility in the App store

The words Cumbria Growth Hub should bring up our podcast, but the full title is Cumbria Growth Hub Podcast if you need it. Click on the screen to open up the podcast.

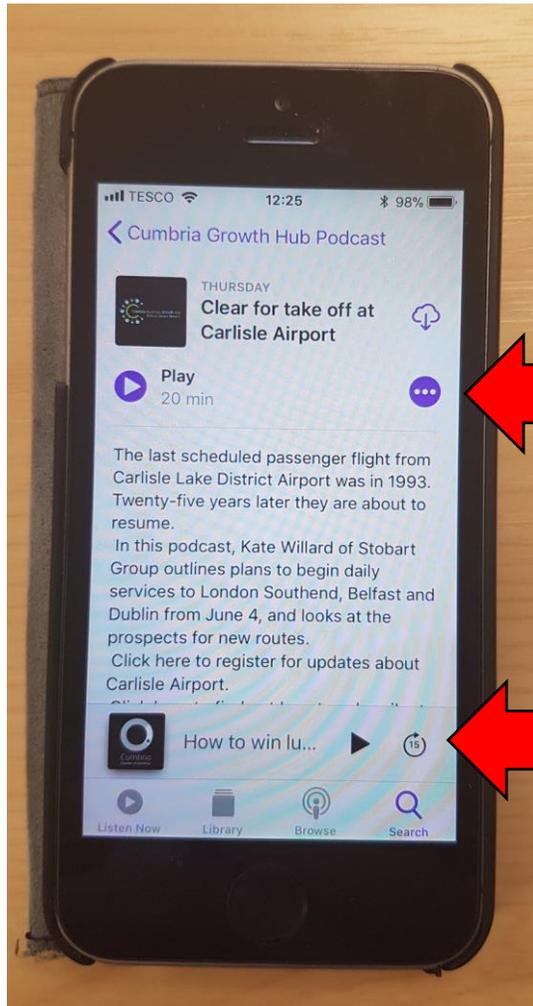

You will now see a page which lists the show and the episodes. Click on the See All link.

Click on the SUBSCRIBE button. Every time we publish a new podcast episode, it will now be delivered directly to your iPhone.

From now on, you will find episodes in Your Library.
New episodes appear automatically.

The cloud icon allows you to download the podcast audio directly to your phone. You may wish to do this if you want to save the audio – perhaps you were the guest! You’d also use this option to listen without internet access – on the train, perhaps.

Click on the episode that you want to listen to, then press the Play button. The podcast episode will play directly on your phone (needs to be connected to the internet or your data).
